NIGEL Summerville has been appointed as the head of Colliers International Apartment Resales, Prestige and General Agency – a new Brisbane residential division.

Summerville said his team would focus on growth of the business in Brisbane's CBD and fringe apartment arena.

He was formerly sales manager at Ray White CBD Residential.

Summerville said he was attracted by Colliers International's reputation in the real estate market place, backed by a strong research division and world-wide database.

Neither Colliers nor PRDnationwide have had an inner-city general agency division so this is a first and one which no doubt will grow and prosper under Nigel's leadership.

SARAH Cusack has rejoined Accor Hotels as director of sales Queensland, based in Brisbane. Cusack worked previously as associate director of sales for Sofitel Brisbane, before leaving to broaden her experience to include resort marketing to become director of sales and marketing for Great Keppel Island Resort. She has previously worked in sales positions in Sydney and Canberra.

SHANE Williamson has been appointed as partner in litigation and insolvency with Brisbane law firm ClarkeKann. Following his admission in 2001, Williamson worked in London on secondment for city law firm Davies Arnold Cooper. Upon his return from London, Williamson worked for McCullough Robertson and more recently, Deacons. Williamson has extensive experience in Corporations Act litigation including board spills, proxy fights, directors' duties and shareholder rights.
